The Pacific Steam Navigation Company's new and beautiful steamship Quite arrived in this harbor on the orning of the 2d just, direct from Callao. She takes place in the line at ouce, and leaves here on the 9th Steam Navigation Company's steamer Peru, Cantain mails and passengers, arrived in this harbor on the 4th Her dates are:- Valparaiso, March 17: Coquimbo. 23d; Pisco and Chinchas, 25th; Caliao, 28th, and Payta, 31st. She brings the following cargo for New York -119 cereons of bark, 19 baies of goatskins and 6 bases of sarsacarula.

The United States ship St Marys, Captain Middleton, arrived in Callao on the 21st of March from the south-

The news by these steamers is of an exceedingly unio teresting and unimportant nature, more so than by any arrival for the past six months. In Chile they appear to be awaiting the result of the elections, and in Fern the assembling of the Congress, that is to do so much good, and commence the manufacture of agricultural implements, instead of swords, muskets, bayonets and gunpewder. In Equador everything is quiet, as it has been since the peace was declared.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

The steamship Ariel, Captain Wilson, from New York on the 23d ult., with the California mails and six hundred and forty-four passengers, arrived at Aspinwall on the lat inst., at nine A.M. The passengers, mails and fasteright crossed the same day, were embarked on beard the steamship Orizaba, and sailed the same night for San Francisco.

The passengers by the opposition line that left New ork on the 13th ultimo in the steamship illinois only The passengers by the opposition line that left New York on the 13th ultimo in the steamship Illinois only took their departure from Panama, in the steamship America, on the 3d instant, having been detaited ten days on the isthmus, or rather on board ship, and will be beaten to San Francisco not less than that time. If the opposition line desires success, some better arrangement must be made in the connection of the steamers. Passengers may submit to this detention for a little time but they will soon begin to fall off, finding that it is cheaper to pay a little more money by the regular line than be subjected to so much detention and loss of time. The United States sloop of war Cyane still remains in this harber. I hear that Commander Shriley is to be detached from her and ordered home, and that liestenant Commander Law will relieve him. We shall regret parting with the one, and be glad to welcome the other.

THE PEWTER MUG SHOOTING CASE.

Trial of James H. Nixon for the Homicide of Wm. N. Brown-Opening of the Case-Testimony for the Prosecution.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER. Before Judge Barnard

Avan 14 .- This morning the trial of James H. Nixo for the killing of Mr. Wm. N. Brown, one of the proprie-tors of the Powter Mug, on the 26th of September last, was proceeded with. The prisoner is a man about thirty years of age, with but one leg, and appeared in court

At the opening of the court Hon, John Cochrane, who supposes for the presecution, rose and remarked that his attention but been called to some animal versions in one of the morning papers in relation to the conduct of the Court is to the jurior who had been excused on Thresday hist. He feit it his duty to remark that, as far as the counse for the prosecution were concerned, they had fully astined the course which the Court deemed proper to take.

My Siewart then proceeded to open the case for the prosecution. The indictment of the prisoner at the bar was for shooting Mr. Wim. N. Brown, the proprietor of the Prester Mug. This nomicide occurred on the 20th of September, 1863, at about four o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Grown was one of the proprietors of the Prester Mug. This nomicide occurred on the 20th of September, 1863, at about four o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Grown was one of the proprietors of the Prester Mug. This nomicide, and had fired a carriage for that purpose. He was provided with a small backet, with which be accidentally touched the prisoner as be passed out of the door of his entablishment. This arounded the indignation of the prisoner, and be began to about Mr. Brown. The latter spotogized to him, but he continued to call deceased at his particular in the court of the continued to the prisoner and be began to about Mr. Brown. The latter spotogized to him, but he continued to call deceased a him be fell. On raising himself up, Nixon drew a pistol and fired three shots at the deceased, the latter of which probably was the one which caused death, for Mr. Brown expired in a lew moments afterward. Mr. Stewart then went on to diate upon the evidence which the prosecution intended to any before the court in the uniform of one of the defenders of his country. It was true that the prisoner appeared before the court in the uniform of one of the defenders of his country. It was true that the mixing could not bring back Mr. Brown to life, to his family, who were availing his return to bring back in the d

Mr. Stewart then the sum amounts afterward and the steward and the steward and the present appeared before the jury. It was true that he present appeared before the court in the uniform of one of the defenders of his country. I was true that he true in the present appeared before the court in the uniform of the defenders of his country, a was true that he true in the present on lay Nidge but they could visited the state of the defenders of his country after a second was a country after an important to bright them to the before the present of the state of the defenders of the state of and heard a shot fired; rushed over and fell, the second shot passing over his bead, he then got up and caushi held of the pissol. and while helding if the third shot was fired by the prisoner.

Cross-cumined by Mr. Clinton—As witness turbed to go in, after speaking to deceased, heard the latter say, "My God, I can't shand this;" Mr. Brown's language was spoken in a quiet manner when he addressed witness; during the interval that deceased spoke to witness telling him to attend to his business and the moment that the first shot was fired Mr. Brown did not use his arms.

Re direct—Knew Mr. Brown for the past twenty-two years. (Witness here identified pistol.) Saw the wounds on the body of deceased; one ball went into the nipple, one went into the testicles, and the other passed in an oblique direction, going into an inside vest packet; knew the prisoner before; he had been a frequenter at the house for four or five weeks previous.

Dr. Thomas Robinson testified as to his medical examination of the body of deceased—Saw the body os the 27th of September and made a post-mortein examination thereon, found three pistol shot wounds on the body; the wound in the thorax cansed death; saw something of the affray, as he (wincess) was passing along at the time; was in the Tribune office shortly before the shooting took place; came to the door of the Tribune office shortly before the shooting took place; came to the door of the Tribune office and saw a pistol shot fired by the prisoner; saw the tail man at the crowd fall; his medical assistance was then called into requisition, and on examination found that deceased could live but a very few minutes; saw the tail man strike the cripple.

Cross-examined—The man whom the witness described as a tail man was the deceased; Brown struck the cripple on the left side of the face; the blow seemed to be given with the cleinched fist; saw one of the cripple's crutches by an the air after the shots were fired, as if he were trying to get at the cripple again; there were not less than tw stoop, the prisoner hopping around.

Cross-examined—Mr. Brown was a large, powerful man.

Harmon Green, a boy about 16 years old, sworn—Was standing between Mr. Brown and the prisoner when the affray took place, between the Sunday Times office and the Pewter Mug, at the edge of the stoop. (Witness here corroborated the other testimony relative to the apologetic remarks of deceased when he bit the prisoner with the basket.) Frisoner called deceased a son of a b—h and a bastard and other names, and said that before he (Brown) left there he would put holes through him; during the time the two first shots were fired the prisoner was aff the time the two first shots were fired the prisoner was aff the time the two first shots were fired the prisoner was affine time the two first shots were fired the prisoner. Anderson McCutcheon, sworn—Knew Mr. Brown by eyesight; saw the prisoner about five minutes before the shooting in the Pewter Mug. (This witness corroborated some of the testimony as before given.)

Thomas Houcston, sworn—Knew the prisoner, saw him before the 26th of September; he had scratches on his face and also contusions before the 26th, he received those scratches and contusions at a concert saloon, called the 'Domino,' on the Wednesduy preceding the shooting. Lewis bergison testilied that he was present at the affair; knew Mr. Brown did not know the prisoner, but had seen him before heard the prisoner say that he would put holes through deceased before he went away after the three shots saw Mr. Brown staggering towards the Sanday Times office dor.

The pestol and the diagram of the Pewtor Mog were here effected in evidence, and the case for the prosecution resed. The court then adjourned to Friday morning, at

GENERAL-I have the honor to submit the following report of the part taken by my command in the operations of the army which resulted in driving the rebel forces from their position in the vicinity of Chattanooga, and of its participation immediately afterwards in their

In order that these operations may be distinctly understood, that the troops concerned be known and receive the honor due them, it is necessary to premise by stating that the general attack was ordered to be made on the enemy's extreme right at daylight on the 21st or November, and that preparatory orders were sent through me on the 18th for the Eleventh corps to cross this time the Eleventh corps and a part of the Twelfth corps were encamped in Lookout valley, opposite to the corps were encamped in Lockout valley, opposite to the left of the enemy's line. In consequence of the non-arrival of the force mainly relied on to lead off, the attack was postponed until the following morning, and again postponed until the 24th, for the same reason. Meanwhile orders were received for the Eleventh corps to go to Chattancoga, where it reported on the 22d. This divided my command; and, as the orders contemplated no advance from Lockout valley, application was made by me to the Major General commanding the department for authority to accompany the Eleventh corps, assigning, as a reason, that it was my duty to join that part of my command going into battle. This was acceded to, and, preparatory to leaving, invitation was sent for Brigadior General Geary, who was the senior officer in my absence, to examine with me the enemy's position and defences, and to be informed at what points I desired to have his troops beld. This was to enable me to make use of the telegraph in communicating with him advisedly during the progress of the fight, should a favorable opportunity present itself for him to advance.
